

KAC Thanks Outgoing Executive Director

The Kingston Arts Council would like to thank Executive Director, Felix Lee, who will be moving on from the organization in January 2023.

Felix first joined the organization in 2017 as Grants Coordinator. In this role, he grew the funding programs with new outreach strategies and built lasting relationships in the community. During the pandemic, he continued support for artists and arts organizations by leading community consultations in 2020 and the distribution of one-time relief funding through two new grant streams in 2021. The KAC has deeply appreciated his focus on removing barriers and his collaborative, generous approach.

When he became Interim Executive Director and then accepted the position of Executive Director in December 2021, the organization was entering a period of change and revitalization. Felix provided the necessary leadership and stability to guide the KAC towards success. He engaged in a human resource policy review, hired new staff, and welcomed a new Board of Directors. His dedication to the organization and to serving the Kingston arts community have been essential to KAC during this time.

“We are grateful for the expertise and enthusiasm that Felix Lee has brought to the Kingston Arts Council,” states Board Chair Clelia Scala. “Felix’s commitment to supporting arts and culture in Kingston is inspiring, and it has been a pleasure working with him. The Board thanks Felix for all his work with the KAC and wishes him the best in his future endeavours.”
